BOATS ON THE HISTORIC HUDSON

Throughout the years, much history has been created on the Hudson River. Henry Hudson's "Half Moon" and Robert Fulton's "Clermont" are both synonymous with the historic river.

To us, who live on its banks, the short, fat tugboats, the long, flat barges, and the tall, graceful sloops are all familiar sights. Yet, since our childhood, the biggest, and the best vessels on the river have been those of the "Hudson River Day Line." Those gleaming, white excursion boats held all the excitement of the "Queen Mary" for us. Last year the Day Boats made their last trips on the Hudson — this year, we Seniors have made our last voyage at Catskill High School.

After graduation, many of us will leave Catskill, some perhaps, forever. The memory of the ships on our beautiful Hudson may become a diminishing impression in our minds. For that reason, the editors have chosen Boats on the Historic Hudson as a motif for the 1954 edition of the Rip Van Winkle . . . . So . . . . Anchors Aweigh!

Dedication

Miss Lorraine Roberts.

"There is no wisdom without frankness."

The class of 1954 dedicates this yearbook to Miss Lorraine Roberts, who took us under her wing when we were Seniors and has helped and guided us not only through high school but also toward our future careers. Although busy as the High School band director, she gave her time and energy unceasingly to make our final year all that we desired. Her keen judgment has aided us to solve the problems of school and class work and those concerning each of us individually. She has those qualities of leadership that we admire and respect. Miss Roberts, teacher, friend, and counselor, is one whom we shall remember with warmest appreciation when we look through our "Book of Memories."

A Message From

Paul T. Sellers

Thrift is an important element in human happiness. So those who learn early in life to discipline themselves in the ways of thrift — to adjust spending to income, to make regular deposits in a savings institution, to save especially when income increases so as to have resources in emergencies, to buy desirable goods only when there will be no financial injury, to exercise prudence in the daily use of things, to avoid excessive self-indulgence—those people will achieve a large measure of satisfaction. This is one of the avenues to happiness.

ROBERT NAGEL

"A courage mightier than the sun — you rose and fought and fought, and fighting, won!"

Bob, there were times in our four years of high school when life seemed very difficult for us. But as we look back, any obstacles we encountered seem trivial as we think of you and your attainments. Your courage and perseverance have made you keep abreast of us, and finally in this last year, we are graduating together. We are proud, Bob, to dedicate our Senior Section to you, with the hope that in the future, as in the past, your faith will carry you forward, through college and through life, and that you will remember your friends in the Class of '54 as we shall remember you.

"Taste the joy that springs from labor."

Our four class officers, under the capable leadership of President Ronald Vincent, have worked closely with the class as a whole, to make our Senior year most productive. They conducted our meetings and kept our records and accounts in good order, and thus have fulfilled their responsibilities to the class and to the school.

The Senior Social Committee, comprised of the class officers, homeroom chairmen and homeroom representatives is a new organization. Many times at noon under the chairmanship of Martin Singer, they met with Miss Roberts to form plans for the various money raising projects for the class. Among the activities were several dances held throughout the year and a very successful food sale in December.

As reward for their hard work these students have the satisfaction of knowing that their efforts culminated in a job well done.

The Morrows are a pleasant family in a friendly town. When seventeen year old Angie Morrow meets Jack Duluth, she feels that she is grown up. Her understanding parents try to accept the fact, although ten year old Kitty wails, "Angie never has time for me anymore."

To complete Angie's family there's Margaret, whose life is all settled with stable, steady Art, and sophisticated Elaine, whose eagerness for dates with Martin, an unpleasant fellow, causes the family great concern.

Rifts in Angie's first romance are caused by complications involving jealous Margie, Jane, Tony and Fitz.

As Angie leaves for college, she philosophizes, "Growing up is not something definite. You can't know when you've crossed the line, but when it's gone you know that never again can anything be quite so wonderful as that 'Seventeenth Summer'."

JACK AND ANGIE:
"Gee you look nice, Angie."

THREE COUPLES:

Here Tony, Jane, Margaret, Art, Angie and Jack are about to leave for the Country Club Dance. Everything looks calm now, but before long Angie and Jack have a quarrel, resulting in Jack taking Jane, and Angie being Tony's date.

ELAINE'S VISITOR:

Elaine, attempting sophistication, greets Martin on their first date. Mischievous Kitty watches as the parents are introduced to uninterested Martin.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM IN ACTION:

Mrs. Cunningham, responsible for this smooth performance, is seen here aiding Father in buttoning his tight jacket. Kitty, up to her usual pranks, has just taken Father's drum as Mother attempts to calm his nerves and to control Kitty.

STAGE CREW:

These boys, D. Taylor, N. Tracy, J. Biegen, and L. Schmidt, under the leadership of M. Singer, stage manager, are in charge of painting the flats, and arranging the set. Credit for the attractive stage goes to Martin who designed the layout and did the lighting. Joseph Biegen, assistant director of the play, also did the sound effects.

USHERETTES:

Ushering at the performances were: E. Jaycox, B. Anable, H. Deyo, T. Stewart, A. Deitz, M. Harring, C. Pysher.

PROMPTERS:

Ready with the cues are E. Coty, B. Dargan and A. King.

MAKEUP:

Making up each actor's face to fit the character protrayed in the play proved to be an interesting and intricate procedure for the members of the makeup committee. Here we see J. Austin, E. Coty, C. Rivenburg and D. Ward obviously enjoying themselves at work on two of the performers in "Seventeenth Summer."

CLASS HISTORY

Since man has been an inhabitant of the earth and has exhibited an interest in his environment and in his fellow beings, that development of his powers of intellect called education has never been completely absent.

In the course of time education has undergone such a complete metamorphosis that it is now scarcely identifiable with its ancient prototype. Such a democratic system as ours through which we all have equal opportunity to secure a sound education, is just one of the blessings America enjoys today.

It is my intent to record the history of the educational and social development of the class of '54.

In the fall of '48 on entering the Junior High School we started two years of earnest preparation for the day when we would become Freshmen. Yet despite our stern determination we found time for enjoyable excursions to the Game Farm, Albany, and Cooperstown; and for presenting our two charming "Willy" and "Junior Detective" plays.

Time flew all too quickly. Soon our Freshman and Sophomore days were over leaving us with pleasant memories of our unusual dances: "The Ski Lodge," "April Showers," "Harvest Moon," and the "Snow Ball." Nor shall we easily forget our helpful Advisers, Miss McClure, and Mr. Lang, who launched our successful high school career.

That following summer seemed long but at last we returned to begin our Junior year. We were extremely fortunate in having Miss Rochford as class adviser.

Since 1953 was the Coronation year in England, we adopted that colorful event as the theme of our Junior Prom. In an atmosphere of a medieval castle ball-room, resplendent with glistening chandeliers and authentic coats-of-arms, Ronald Vincent and Barbara Anable were crowned King and Queen. Dreamy music, soft lights, glamorous gowns, added to the story-book enchantment of our never-to-be-forgotten ball.

A card party and the selection of class rings rounded out a successful year.

Now as Seniors, we have reached the zenith of our high school days. Never before have we been so interested in the affairs of the school. An unusual concern has been shown in the S.O., our school government, and a serious attempt is being made to improve its present status.

Our fund raising activities have included a food sale, a dance, selling ice cream, and we have conducted the best magazine drive in the history of the school, thanks to the wonderful assistance of Miss Roberts.

We have also presented "Seventeenth Summer," a delightful yet true-to-life comedy, ideally adapted to the members of our class. Their performance scored an outstanding success. The tribulations of a typical teen-ager, her relationship to her family and friends, struck a sympathetic chord of memory in the hearts of an enthuisastic audience. We shall never forget Mrs. Cunningham's patience in directing us.

Throughout the year we devoted ourselves to the objective which has been our goal for four years of money raising endeavor: our edition of the Rip Van Winkle. We should like to express our appreciation to our hard-working editor-in-chief, Martin Singer, and to indefatigable Jean Shults, as well as to all the others who helped in this project. When we think of the yearbook, the name of the one person who contributed wholeheartedly to this undertaking fills our minds. Our sincere gratitude goes to you, Mrs. Rusack, for your expert counsel which gave us a yearbook of which we can be proud. And to Mrs. Mower and her typing staff who assisted with the production of the Rip Van Winkle, we wish to give special thanks.

Although we may be scattered to all corners of the earth, we shall never forget our high school days and the guidance given us by Mr. Sellers and our wonderful teachers.

And when we glance through this book may its pleasant memories recall to us the happy times we had at C.H.S.

RIP VAN WINKLE STAFF

In November of 1953, and for many months afterwards, we members of the Class of '54 were found busily working on our memory book, The Rip Van Winkle.

In it is a story of our four years in Catskill High School. We have tried to show, by pictorial review, how its activities and traditions have contributed to many lasting memories, and the influence that these have had in training us to appreciate the necessary qualities that will help us take our places in society.

Politics are a vital aspect of American life and training for future endeavors. Catskill High School tries to fulfill this need by an active General Organization. This organization consists of the executives of the G.O. and one representative from each club and class.

Above all, the student government provides a fine opportunity for training in one of the most important phases of life—namely, citizenship.

Band

Miss Roberts

When you think of a band, brilliant colors, shining horns, and snappy marches come to mind but a band is much more than all this. People make up a band and all groups of people have a history. Our band has a history.

In 1934, when Dr. DiCaprio first directed it, our band had only twenty members—without uniforms. Two decades of able leadership developed the band in quality, size and appearance. Under Director Bremer our band became a member of the N.Y.S.S.M.A. Miss Ivy May Johnson introduced individual band instruction. Course credits have been given band membership for a decade. The Booster Club, organized by community music enthusiasts, sponsored numerous fund-raising activities to provide us with band uniforms.

Under the dynamic and enthusiastic leadership of Miss Roberts the C. H. S. band has set an enviable record. In 1953 it received an "A" rating in state competition. Present day responsibilities of the band include playing for athletic activities, social and civic functions, parades, and school assemblies.

There are nine seniors in the present band. Several of them have been studying music under the direction of Miss Roberts since they were students in the fourth grade of our elementary schools.

To the Class of 1954:

Hail and farewell! But, I trust not a complete "goodbye," for always I shall be interested in your welfare and progress as you continue to play capably the role of adults in this game of life.

Long have I observed your growth: spiritually, mentally, physically, as you have progressed from being children in the second grade to Seniors, ready now to carry your banners into the great unknown; marching ahead with your eyes in the stars, but always, I am sure, with your feet on the ground; ready and eager to do and to dare, ever with faith in the future and in your own individual abilities to meet, with courage and strength, whatever may come to you.

Thank you for the great contribution so many of you have made to the music of our school; for the spirit of cooperation and unity of purpose and helpfulness, shown throughout your school life, and for the inspiration and fine example that you leave behind as you close the doors of this experience forever.

May all success and happiness go with you always!

Sincerely yours,

ECHO EDITORS

Our biweekly school publication, the Echo, serves a dual purpose in Catskill High. For those students interested in journalism, it offers the opportunity of working at all phases of publishing a paper. The entire student body benefits from the paper by reading the thought-provoking editorials, accounts of news events, and amusing feature articles.

With the cooperation of the Catskill Savings Bank, the students carry on banking every Tuesday during the school year. Homeroom banking captains and tellers collect and record the savings which then go to the bank. In this way, a fine basis for thrift throughout life is established.

Soccer

A youthful team often lacks experience, but usually shows promise of better things to come. Catskill High, therefore, need not be discouraged by the disappointing record made by its soccer squad in 1953, as all but three players will return next season. Goalie Hugh Schrader, Fullback John VanDeusen, and Inside Fred Chetti are the only Seniors on the team. Although they will be missed next year, Coach Waldron will still have a sound group of veterans capable of restoring Catskill High School to winning ways.

Handicapped by the lack of a complete schedule, Catskill High won two, lost three, and tied one during the 1953 season.

Varsity Basketball

Catskill High School basketball teams have racked up such outstanding won and lost records in the past that it seemed impossible for a poorer record to sneak in, as it has done this season. C. H. S. need not feel ashamed of the record compiled by its varsity this year, since it is doubtful that any school in this area can equal Catskill's fine record over the years. This year's team has done little toward marring Catskill's fine basketball reputation.

Several factors are responsible for Catskill's sub-standard season this year. Primary, however, is the fact that Catskill High School has played the most difficult schedule in its history. Every opponent has given C. H. S. a battle, and every victory for our boys has been deservedly earned.

Five Seniors — Vincent Ceriello, Fred Chetti, Hugh Schrader, Bert Swain and John VanDeusen, will graduate this year, leaving Coach Porter with six veterans for next year's squad. The experience these boys have gained this year will aid them in returning C.H.S. to winning ways in 1955.

Junior Varsity

Coach Waldron deserves a lot of credit for taking a raw group of fellows and transforming them into one of the most successful Jayvee squads ever fashioned at Catskill High School. At the start of the season it was doubtful that the Junior Varsity would have a winning record, but as the season progressed it was apparent that C. H. S. actually had a talented and determined Jayvee team. Although Coach Waldron had to rely on practically the same starting five game after game, he was fortunate enough to have capable reserves on hand when the occasion warranted it. Next year's Junior Varsity will have a difficult time duplicating the excellent records compiled by the Jayvees in 1954.

Baseball

The 1953 baseball squad was one of the most outstanding Catskill High School has ever had. Compiling a record of eight victories as against only two setbacks, C. H. S. defeated such schools as Cairo, Greenville, Hunter-Tannersville, Middleburg, Schoharie, and Windham during the season. Saugerties was the only team capable of downing Catskill. It turned the trick twice, by scores of 3 to 1 and 6 to 3. John Van Deusen, the team's leading pitcher, Bob Snyder, the top batsman, and Fred Chetti, 1953's foremost fielder, will all be on hand this season to try to duplicate the fine record of the preceding year.

These veterans, coupled with a number of new enthusiasts, should comprise a team capable of exceeding last year's fine record.
